1. Welcome to the Faculty of Arts

1.1 Words of Welcome by the Dean of the Faculty of Arts

The Faculty of Arts of the University of Groningen attaches great importance to having students from outside the Netherlands in its programmes of study. International students raise cultural awareness in higher education. This is a highly desirable goal. Generally, students - like all people - take their own cultural frame of mind for granted. To lose their cultural innocence, students (and teachers as well) have to learn to look at the world through the eyes of persons from different cultural backgrounds. The interaction with foreign students creates favourable conditions for this learning process. Therefore, the Faculty strongly appreciates the active participation of international students, both inside and outside the class room.

We hope you will have a fruitful, inspiring and enjoyable stay in Groningen!

Gerry C. Wakker, Dean of the Faculty of Arts

1.2 About this Handbook

In this handbook you will find specific information about studying at the Faculty of Arts of the University of Groningen. It contains information for exchange students and degree students. Not all the information applies to both types of students.

Degree students have come to the Faculty of Arts to obtain a BA or MA degree in Groningen. For this, they have gone through an admission procedure.

Exchange students are in Groningen for one or two semesters and will obtain their degree at their home university.

General information for international students about living in Groningen and studying at the University can be found in the digital brochure Welcome to the University of Groningen 2015-2016. In the Health Guide for International Students you can find up-to-date and very useful information about health issues.

We hope this handbook will help you find your way around our faculty, and we wish you an enjoyable and memorable time in Groningen!

2.2 Organisation: how the faculty is managed

Faculty Board

The Faculty Board is in charge of overall management and administration of the Faculty and consists of the Dean, two members and, in an advisory capacity, a student member.

Faculty Council

The Faculty Council advises the Board in matters concerning teaching, learning and research as well as the Faculty budget. In some cases, such as decisions about teaching, the approval of the Faculty Council is required.

Institute for Undergraduate and Graduate Studies

The Institute for Undergraduate and Graduate Studies, headed by a Director, manages and organises all BA and MA degree programmes in the Faculty. Support services, such as the Office of Student Affairs and the Mobility Office are part of the Institute, as well as study advisers.

Research schools

Research is organised in so-called “research schools” that have their own research programmes and are responsible for the PhD training of students. In many cases, research schools involve several faculties. The Faculty of Arts participates in seven research schools.

Graduate School of Humanities

The Faculty of Arts of the University of Groningen provides advanced training and research supervision in Research Masters and on PhD level to the most promising students in Archaeology, Literature and Culture Studies, and Linguistics. Several research institutes participate in the Graduate School.

Departmental Committees

A Departmental Committee is responsible for the practical implementation of a degree programme.

Curriculum Committees

The Curriculum Committees are important advisory bodies for the degree programmes. They are also in charge of the evaluation of degree programmes. Half of the members of the Curriculum Committee are students and half are staff.

Admission Boards

Every degree programme has its own admission board, that decides upon admission of new students.

Examination Boards

Every degree programme has its own Examination Board, consisting of all the lecturers involved in that programme. The Board of Examiners ensures that the Teaching and Examination Regulations are implemented correctly. Among other things, it issues degree certificates and deals with complaints by students concerning examinations, cases of fraud and cheating, and admission to courses or exams.

All students are expected to take their exams at the designated dates and times. Exceptions can be made only under very exceptional circumstances.

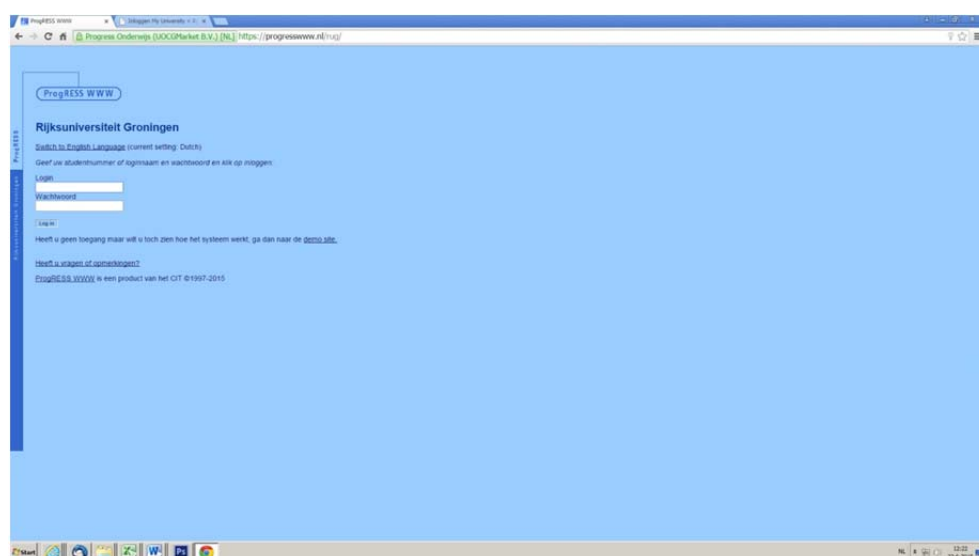

4.3 Registration for courses: ProgressWWW and Nestor

Progress WWW is the official internet application for enrollment for courses and exams and for the registration of study results.

You find ProgressWWW by going to <https://progresswww.nl/rug/>, or by logging in to My University. You use your student number and password to log in to ProgressWWW.

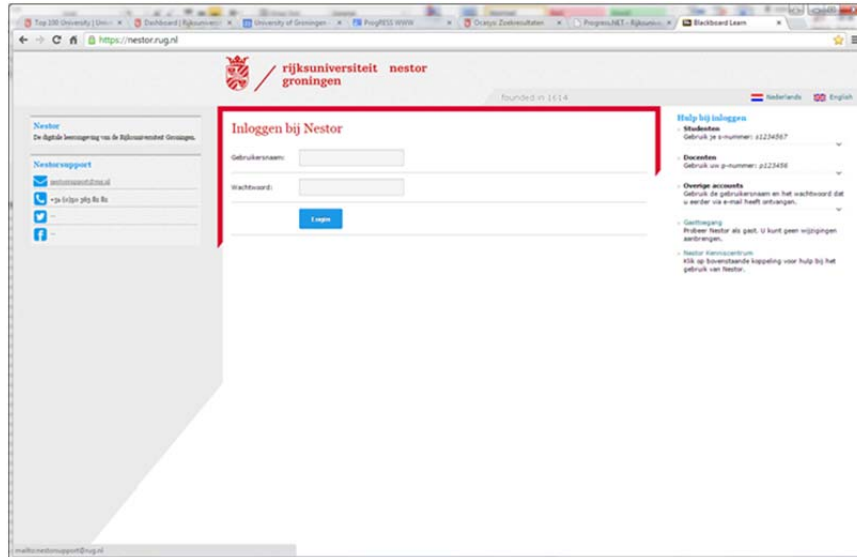

More information about ProgressWWW can be found on http://myuniversity.rug.nl/infonet/studenten/let/organisatie/bsz/nieuwe_studenten/?lang=en

ProgressWWW login

Nestor (<https://nestor.rug.nl/>) is the online learning environment or Blackboard of the University of Groningen. It is used to provide announcements for courses you are attending, but also for seminar registration, and often teachers will post grades there as well. Do keep in mind that ProgressWWW is the only official grade registration website. If your grades are not in ProgressWWW, then they have not been registered yet.

Nestor login

4.3.1 Enrolling for courses/modules: exchange students

For exchange students the international office will take care of course registration in ProgressWWW after your course selection has been approved by the study adviser for exchange students. Changes can be made until two weeks after the start of the semester. If you take courses in other faculties, you are sometimes required to go there in person to get registered. You will be informed of this.

4.3.2 Enrolling for courses/modules: degree students

Degree students have to register themselves. Course registration takes place in particular weeks which can be found in the academic calendar at the back of this guide and the guide of your degree programme.

This is how you register for modules in ProgressWWW:

- If necessary, click 'Switch to English Language'
- Log in with your student number and password
- Click 'enrolling' at the top
- Select 'Faculty of Arts' on the left
- Select 'Enrolling for Modules Semester 1' or 'Semester 2'
- Click on the right phase: bachelor or master
- Click on the right department
- Choose the right year of study and semester: now a list of available courses appears
- Check the box of the courses you want to take and click on 'enrol'.

To de-register for a course, you check the box of a module in your course overview on the right side of the screen and click 'deregister'.

Your enrolment/deregistration will be confirmed by e-mail to your student e-mail account.

4.3.3 Enrolling for seminar groups: Nestor

Some courses will have more than one seminar group. You have to be enrolled in only one of those seminar groups. For most courses you can enroll yourself in Nestor. During the Final Course Registration office hours, organized by the Mobility Office in week before the start of the semester, we can assist exchange students with their seminar group registration. Degree students can contact the secretariat of their department about their seminar group registration.

4.4 Exams

Enrollment for course= enrollment for exam (so you do not have to enroll for exams of the Faculty of Arts separately).

The exam periods for the Faculty of Arts for 2015-2016 are:

		Exam period
Sem 1	Exams block 1	19 October – 6 November 2015
	Resits block 1	11 January – 15 January 2016
Sem 2	Exams block 2	18 January – 29 January 2016
	Resits block 2	21 March – 25 March 2016
	Exams block 3	28 March – 8 April 2016
	Resits block 3	30 May – 3 June 2016
	Exams block 4	6 June – 17 June 2016
	Resits block 4	27 June – 1 July 2016

NB: Exam periods vary per faculty! Make sure to be informed about the proper dates (you can ask the international office of the concerning faculty). When you register for a course, you will automatically be registered for the exam.

Sometimes exchange students cannot be in Groningen during the exam period in January because the semester at their home university has started. In that case, an exception can be made. If you know you won't be able to be here in January, inform the Mobility Office or study adviser for exchange students as early as possible. Please bear in mind that (early) holidays are never a ground for exception.

Valid grounds for exceptions also include health reasons or serious personal or family circumstances. You need documentation (such as a doctor's note) to prove this. Inform your study adviser as well.

If you are ill during an exam or resit, or cannot be present for urgent reasons, please inform your student adviser as soon as possible so that he/she can contact the exam board for an extra exam opportunity. For formal requests like these, it is necessary to submit documentation stating the reasons why you couldn't attend the exam (for example a doctor's note). Again: early flights or holidays are never a valid reason to miss an exam.

If a course is assessed by way of an essay or paper, there is usually no problem, as you can send the paper from home. If necessary you can ask the lecturer for an extended deadline (but it is not guaranteed that you'll get this!).

Dutch Studies exams are earlier than regular courses: early to mid-December and May.

4.5 Grades

The Dutch grading scale runs from 10 (highest mark) to 1 (lowest mark). The grade 5,5 is the pass grade. Depending on what you are used to at home, you may find that Dutch lecturers give low grades. For most students and lecturers, an 8 is considered very good indeed, while a 9, let alone a 10 are very rarely given. Most students are awarded a 6 or a 7. If you are used to getting higher grades at home, you (and your supervisor at home) may feel disappointed. Remember, however, that this may be due to the modest Dutch grading practice, not necessarily to a poor performance on your part. The ECTS grading table will help you interpret your results by showing the statistical distribution of grades. This will make it easier for your supervisor at home to transfer the Dutch grade to an equivalent used in your home university.

ECTS grading tables 2014-2015

5. Student support

5.1 Study advisers degree students

Every degree programme has its own study adviser or student counselor. If you go to the website of your degree programme, you will find his or her name and contact details.

Study advisers give advice about study programmes or courses to take, give feedback on your study progress and help you overcome study-related problems. Therefore, if you have study-related problems or personal problems that affect your studies, your study adviser may be able to help you help yourself. When you talk to a study adviser, what you say will be considered as confidential. This means that he or she won't talk about it to other people or your home university without your permission.

5.2 Study adviser exchange students

Exchange students can talk about any study-related problems with the study adviser for exchange students, Maaïke Moltzer (see page 4).

5.3 Office for Student Affairs

The Office for Student Affairs (Bureau Studentzaken) is the student administration office for the Faculty of Arts. Here your study results are processed and registered and your degree certificates organised. You can also get information on graduation and enrollment for courses and exams. For more information, go www.rug.nl/let/bsz

Please note that many things can be taken care of online.

Exchange students should go to the Mobility Office desk first with their questions.

The Office for Student Affairs Student Desk is located in the hall of the first floor of the Harmonie Building – you can't miss it!

☎ +31 (0)50 363 5781 (from 8.30 a.m. – 5 p.m.)

Opening hours: Monday – Friday 1 p.m. – 4 p.m.

5.4 Study support (SSC)/Psychological counselling

If you have problems adjusting to your life in Groningen, or experience other personal problems that affect your studies, you can make an appointment with your study adviser at the Faculty of Arts. Student advisers are experienced listeners and take students and their problems seriously. They can also give practical advice how to organise or readjust your studies. If your problems are more serious and fundamental, you can ask one of the psychological counsellors of the Student Service Centre for help. They are trained and experienced psychologists who are accustomed to helping students from many different backgrounds and cultures. Psychological counselling is strictly confidential and is free of charge for all students.

5.5 Specials needs

Students with a mental or physical disability (including dyslexia) may need extra facilities to follow courses and take exams. Please contact your study adviser to discuss any arrangements you need, such as visual aids, extended time for exams, etc. The earlier you do this, the better. Note that you will need to hand in official proof of your disability, ie a note from your psychologist, doctor or testing centre. Exchange students can hand in a statement from their home university listing which facilities they use at home. More information is also available on <http://www.rug.nl/education/international-students/studying-with-a-disability>

6. Practical Matters

6.1 Student card

All (international) students at the University of Groningen receive a student card (by post, during the Welcoming Ceremony, or at the Mobility Office Desk). For this student card to be made, you need to upload your picture in Nestor.

On the personalised student card you can find your name, student number and registration dates. By transferring money from your bank account to your student card you can use this card for printing, coffee machines etc. Read how to transfer money to your student card here: <http://myuniversity.rug.nl/infonet/studenten/ict/uwprinterstudenten/printing-with-university-card-credit>

You also need your student card for the libraries (borrowing books), for the coffee machines, for registration for student facilities such as the ACLO sports centre, and you have to bring your card with you during exams. Without the card, you might be refused at the exam.

If you have lost your student card or if it has been stolen, you can apply for a new card at the University Student Desk (Academy building) for a € 15 fee. You will receive the card in the mail around ten days later (exchange students: your card will be sent to the Mobility Office).

6.2 Transcript of records for degree students

If you need an official, certified list of grades, you can apply for it online at the Office for Student Affairs. Go to the office website and click on the item on the menu on the left (www.rug.nl/let/bsz).

The printout will be available for pick-up the following working day from 1 p.m. Make sure you bring identification with you. This can be your student card or identity card. If you cannot pick up the list of grades yourself, it can be posted to your Groningen address. You can also authorize someone else to pick up the list, but this person will need to show identification as well.

6.3 Transcript of records for exchange students

Exchange students often need a transcript of records of the courses they have taken while on exchange. You have to apply for this transcript when all of grades are registered in ProgressWWW: http://myuniversity.rug.nl/infonet/studenten/let/organisatie/bsz/international-office-nieuw/international-students-stud-infonet/exchange-stud-infonet/academicrecord_webform

The list can be sent directly to your home university, or to your home address. Only completed courses (passed or failed) can be included in the list. This means that if you have not taken the final exam of a course, no grade will be registered and it cannot be included in your transcript of records. Therefore always contact the study adviser for exchange students in case of problems with courses or exams.

6.4 Graduation (degree students only)

When you have (nearly) completed your degree programme, apply for your degree certificate in 3 steps:

1. Complete the Examination Programme Approval Form. Go to the website of the Office for Student Affairs and on the menu on the left click 'Graduation, what do you need to do?' <http://myuniversity.rug.nl/infonet/studenten/let/organisatie/bsz/afstuderen/>
2. The second step: upload your thesis. Your thesis must be uploaded (in PDF format) through the thesis service of the Office for Student Affairs. It will be stored in the archives of your degree programme.
3. Complete the Application Degree Certificate Form when your last results have been entered in ProgressWWW. Only after you have completed this form will the Office for Student Affairs start the graduation procedure. You will receive a confirmation on your student email account.

7. Do's & don'ts in the classroom

7.1 Class attendance

Students are required to attend at least 80% of all classes for each module. If you are absent more often, you may be excluded from taking part in the exam and may not gain any credits for the class. Some lecturers are willing to give extra assignments to make up for missed classes, but only if you were absent for a valid reason and if you notified him/her in time! Therefore, if you are unable to attend a seminar due to illness or other special circumstances, you must notify your lecturer in advance if possible, otherwise as soon as possible.

Lecturers like students to be there for the first class of the semester, as that is the time when procedures are explained, schedules for assignments and presentations are drawn up, etc. You must therefore make sure you are in Groningen during the first week of the semester, and make sure you attend all classes during that week!

Students arriving late in the semester are not guaranteed admission to classes.

7.2 Fraud or plagiarism

FRAUD OR PLAGIARISM ME?

Over the past years plagiarism and fraud have been a problem for a relatively high number of international students. Without intending it, students often commit this academic offence. The consequences can be serious: students may be expelled from classes or even from the university. It is very important that you understand what plagiarism is and what you should do to avoid it. Therefore, do take the time to read the following as this concerns you too!

What is plagiarism? What is fraud?

The main point is that you are not allowed to present someone else's work or ideas as your own.

Do's and don'ts

1. Copy/paste.

Don't copy text from books, articles or the Internet without acknowledging your source. Even if you only use a sentence or a couple of words you must mention the author and publication. If you copy a text literally, use quotation marks and mention the source. If you paraphrase other people's ideas or arguments (that is, represent them in your own words) you must also give the source.

2. Recycling.

Don't self-plagiarise by re-using your own work (such as earlier assignments or essays).

3. You are responsible for your own work. Don't ask others to do your assignments for you. This includes handing in assignments or essays as your own which have been edited or corrected by someone else.

4. Exams.

Don't cheat during exams by using your mobile phone, concealed notes, consulting with others, copying your neighbour's answers, or by impersonating someone else.

Furthermore

The university has a plagiarism scanner, so plagiarism will always be detected!

Source referencing differs from one academic field to another. MLA (Modern Language Association) style for documentation is widely used in the humanities, especially in writing on language and literature. You can find information on the correct usage of the MLA style (or other formatting styles used by some professors) on-line, or in handbooks available in the library.

If in doubt, contact your lecturer.

In general you should remember that the point of the courses you take is that you learn by doing the work yourself. Any instance of plagiarism shows that you do not take the course nor your own development seriously.

In short: do it yourself or don't do it at all!

7.3 The lecturer and fellow Dutch students

Depending on what you are used to, you may find professors and lecturers quite accessible, friendly and helpful, especially in small seminar groups. Most lecturers welcome exchange students provided they work hard and join in with the rest of the group. In Dutch universities, the atmosphere is generally relaxed and not very hierarchical.

Lecturers often have office hours, specific times when they are in their office and available for students. If you want to talk to a lecturer, please check the office hours or make an appointment. If you write an e-mail to a lecturer, bear in mind that he or she is not a fellow student, but should be addressed properly (for example, dear Professor X or dear Mr / Mrs X).

Students in seminar group

If you cannot come to a seminar, you should inform the lecturer by e-mail. For big lectures without an attendance requirement) you don't have to do this. You should also inform the lecturer if you decide to drop a course altogether and not to come to his or her class any more, especially if it is a seminar or small lecture and the lecturer knows who you are. It's very impolite to just stay away without informing the lecturer.

Depending on your own cultural background, you may find Dutch students quite outspoken and direct. Don't be discouraged by this, they are usually quite open, friendly and willing to talk to you. The best way to make contact with them is by making the first move. Start talking to them and don't be afraid to ask them about studying or other things you are not sure of.

Even though you may not be used to it, try to participate in discussions during seminars. What you say doesn't have to be perfect, as long as it contributes to the discussion. Don't be too scared to make mistakes – you'll only learn from them!

8. Funny Facts

8.1 Coming to Groningen

Going to another country for your study means arranging lots of things. Your first-day-enthusiasm could disappear completely when you find out what you need to do for your courses. Of course studying should be the most important activity during your period abroad, but we understand it will not be the only thing. You will probably explore the Dutch way of living and get the most out of it during your short period of stay. Therefore we would like to help you and give some tips and tricks about the Dutch way of living.

8.2 Funny Facts

Of course Dutch don't have their own special quirks. Here are some things you should know about The Netherlands and the Dutch:

- Only 0,23% of the people on earth are Dutch (compared to 18,32% Chinese people).
- The Netherlands is a small country. For example: The United Kingdom is three times larger!
- There are more bicycles in The Netherlands than people living here.
- On average Dutch people cycle 900km a year on their bikes.
- Dutch people are used to have a warm dinner at 6pm sharp!
- 66% of the Netherlands is below sea-level. The country is protected by 80.000 km of dikes.
- Be aware that Dutch and Deutsch are not the same.
- Officially The Netherlands and Holland are not the same. Holland is only the western part of the country (the provinces of North- and South Holland) whereas The Netherlands covers the whole kingdom.
- The national flag is red, white & blue but the national color is orange because the royal family is named 'Of Orange Nassau'.
- The Dutch are the tallest people in the world. Men are on average 184cm tall and women 170cm.
- The highest point in The Netherlands is the Vaalser "mountain", which is 323 meter above sea-level.
- Dutch people eat on average 17 kilos of cheese in one year.
- Groningen is best liked by its inhabitants in a comparable survey from the EU, July 2007, among inhabitants of 75 cities in the EU, on aspects such as amenities, facilities, safety, pleasant people living there, clean air (1. Groningen, 2. Leipzig 2. and 3. Krakow).
- Every fifth person in Groningen is a student, which gives Groningen the highest student population density in the Netherlands.

8.3 Tips for trips

There are plenty of interesting places to visit while you're staying in The Netherlands. The Netherlands has a solid public transportation system. The easiest way to visit other places mostly is travelling by train. Trains tickets can be very expensive. Some stores sell cheaper tickets every once in a while, e.g. HEMA, BLOKKER, Kruidvat, Jumbo and Albert Heijn (AH). With these tickets you can travel by train for one day to any train station in the Netherlands. Some of these tickets are only valid during the weekend, or only during weekdays after 9 o'clock. So you will have to check before you buy a ticket what the travel conditions are. These tickets usually cost around €15.

Groningen:

It will be your home city for a couple of months and it has many things to offer. If you arrive at the end of August you should go to the Noorderplantsoen which is a park just outside the city center. For 10 days there will be a festival called 'Noorderzon' and it will give you an opportunity to watch music, art work and theater performances while sitting in the grass with food and drinks. Website: <http://www.noorderzon.nl/en/startpagina>.

In the beginning of January there will be 'Eurosonic/Noorderslag' which is a festival where new bands can promote themselves for the festivals during that year, so it's a good opportunity to spot the new bands. Website: <http://www.eurosonic-noorderslag.nl/en/>.

If you've missed these festivals you should check out the Oosterpoort and the Stadsschouwburg (city theater) to find out about national and international acts performing in Groningen. Mostly they have special discounts for students. Website: <http://www.de-oosterpoort.nl/>.

Bevrijdingsfestival: Every year on 4 May, the Netherlands commemorates the victims of war. On 5 May, Liberation Day, we celebrate the fact that we were liberated. During Liberation Day there are festivals throughout the country. One of the locations is the Stadspark in Groningen: <http://www.bevrijdingsfestivalgroningen.nl/english>.

King's Day ('Koningsdag') is a national holiday in the Kingdom of the Netherlands. On 27 April (26 April if the 27th is a Sunday) the Netherlands celebrate the birth of King Willem-Alexander. Koningsdag is known for its nationwide vrijmarkt ('free market'), at which the Dutch sell their used items. Koningsdag sees large-scale celebrations, with many concerts and special events in public spaces, particularly in Amsterdam. In Groningen there will be concerts at the Grote Markt and Vismarkt. You can also find a free market in the Ubbo Emmiussingel and Praediniussingel.

Every year, on 28 August, the city of Groningen celebrates the breaking of the siege, also called 'Bommen Berend'. The Siege of Groningen was a battle that took place in 1672 during the Franco-Dutch war. It was a Dutch victory that ended all hope of the Bishop of Münster to push deeper into the Netherlands. The Bishop carries the nickname 'Bommen Berend' (Bernhard Bombs) because he unsuccessfully lay siege to the Dutch city of Groningen using bombs.

Amsterdam:

The capital of The Netherlands with some of the best attractions to visit to learn more about The Netherlands. Of course you should visit the Rijksmuseum with famous paintings like 'The Night Watch' by Rembrandt van Rijn and 'The Milkmaid' by Johannes Vermeer and many other famous Dutch paintings. Next to the Rijksmuseum you can find the Van Gogh museum which has paintings of another well-known painter in Dutch history. Another museum you should visit is the Anne Frank house, where the Jewish Anne Frank wrote her famous diary while in hiding for the Germans during the Second World War.

In Amsterdam you should just walk around the canals and watch the many bicycles passing by. Even a canal tour could be a good opportunity to get the feeling of living in Amsterdam and watch the Dutch people living in the canal houses and boat houses.

A tip if you want to visit the museums is to buy your tickets online to avoid waiting lines of hours (and we really do mean hours!!). Mostly you will get a ticket with a time on it to indicate when you can enter the museum. Most Dutch museums offer a student discount, so keep your student card ready.

8.4 German Cities

You may want to visit our neighboring countries during your time here. As Germany is close, we recommend Oldenburg, Bremen or even Berlin.

You can travel to these cities by buss (<https://www.tixys.com/publicexpress/>) from € 7 (one way, to Oldenburg) to € 65 (one way, to Berlin).

To Oldenburg, Bremen and Berlin you can also travel by train, but you have to change trains in Leer (just over the border in Germany): <https://www.nsinternational.nl/en>

8.5 The Dutch Wadden Islands

The Wadden Islands form an archipelago at the eastern edge of the North Sea in northwestern Europe, stretching from the north-west of the Netherlands past Germany to the west of Denmark. The islands shield the Wadden Sea from the North Sea. During low tide large parts of the Wadden Sea fall dry, and during that time you can take guided walks ('wadlopen') to some of the islands. Of course you can also take the easy way and catch the ferry to the islands:

Texel: boat from Den Helder

Vlieland and Terschelling: boat from Harlingen

Ameland: boat from Holwerd

Schiermonnikoog: boat from Lauwersoog

Borkum (German): boat from Eemshaven

Lauwersoog is closest to Groningen, you can get there by bus and by train.

A popular activity on the islands: bicycling (of course!)

8.6 Some other tips of things you can visit in The Netherlands:

- Volendam: old Dutch fishing village where some people still wear the traditional clothing.
- Kinderdijk: to check out the wind mills in the flat Dutch landscape.
- Zaanse Schans: an area including wind mills and some old Dutch craft work factories.
- Small city trips to Den Haag, Rotterdam, Utrecht, Leiden, Delft, Maastricht... These cities are just as beautiful and lively as Amsterdam, but less touristic. Each Dutch city has it's own Tourist information centre to help you find things to see and do. Another good idea is to just ask your fellow Dutch students for tips!
- Keukenhof: during spring more than 7 million flowers (mainly Tulips) grow into spectacular fields of colors:

8.7 Some Dutch expressions and sentences you should know

Learning Dutch in a few months is a challenge on its own, but we would like to give you a good start by providing some Dutch sentences and Dutch expressions. One of the first words you should learn is 'Gezellig' which is hard to pronounce and hard to translate in English. It basically means cozy or sociable and it is used in all possible settings. Having dinner with your friends can be gezellig but also sitting in class with your classmates could be gezellig.

Some Dutch expressions:

- Over koetjes en kalfjes praten – Talk about little cows and little calves. This expression basically means small talk, dealing with unimportant subjects. The Dutch refer to animals in many of their idioms. ENG: small talk
- Nu komt de aap uit de mouw – Now the monkey comes out of the sleeve. The Dutch use this saying when the true meaning of a situation or the true character of a person comes to the surface. The saying apparently has its origins in magic tricks during which a monkey popped out of the magician's long sleeves. ENG: now is the moment of Truth
- De kogel is door de kerk – The bullet is through the church. This is the Dutch way of saying that, after long deliberation, a decision has been made. During past battles, out of respect churches were spared the shooting, so when an enemy did not subscribe to this unspoken agreement, it meant that he was capable of committing any evil in the battle. Other opinions simply attribute this expression to the nice alliteration. ENG: the die is cast
- Iets onder de knie hebben – To have something under the knee. To have thorough knowledge of something, to master it. The expression first suggested dominating an opponent in a fight and, over time, its meaning extended to things one can learn. ENG: have mastered something
- Nee heb je, ja kun je krijgen – You already have a no, but could get a yes. ;) ENG: The least you can get is a no.

Some Dutch words / sentences (informal):

Hello	Hoi / Hallo
Goodbye	Doei
How are you doing?	Hoe gaat het?
Thanks	Bedankt
You're welcome	Graag gedaan
I would like to order..	Ik wil graag...
Drinks	Borrel
Cheers	Proost
Bicycle	Fiets

8.8 Dutch food and drinks

The Dutch cuisine has some typical things, like:

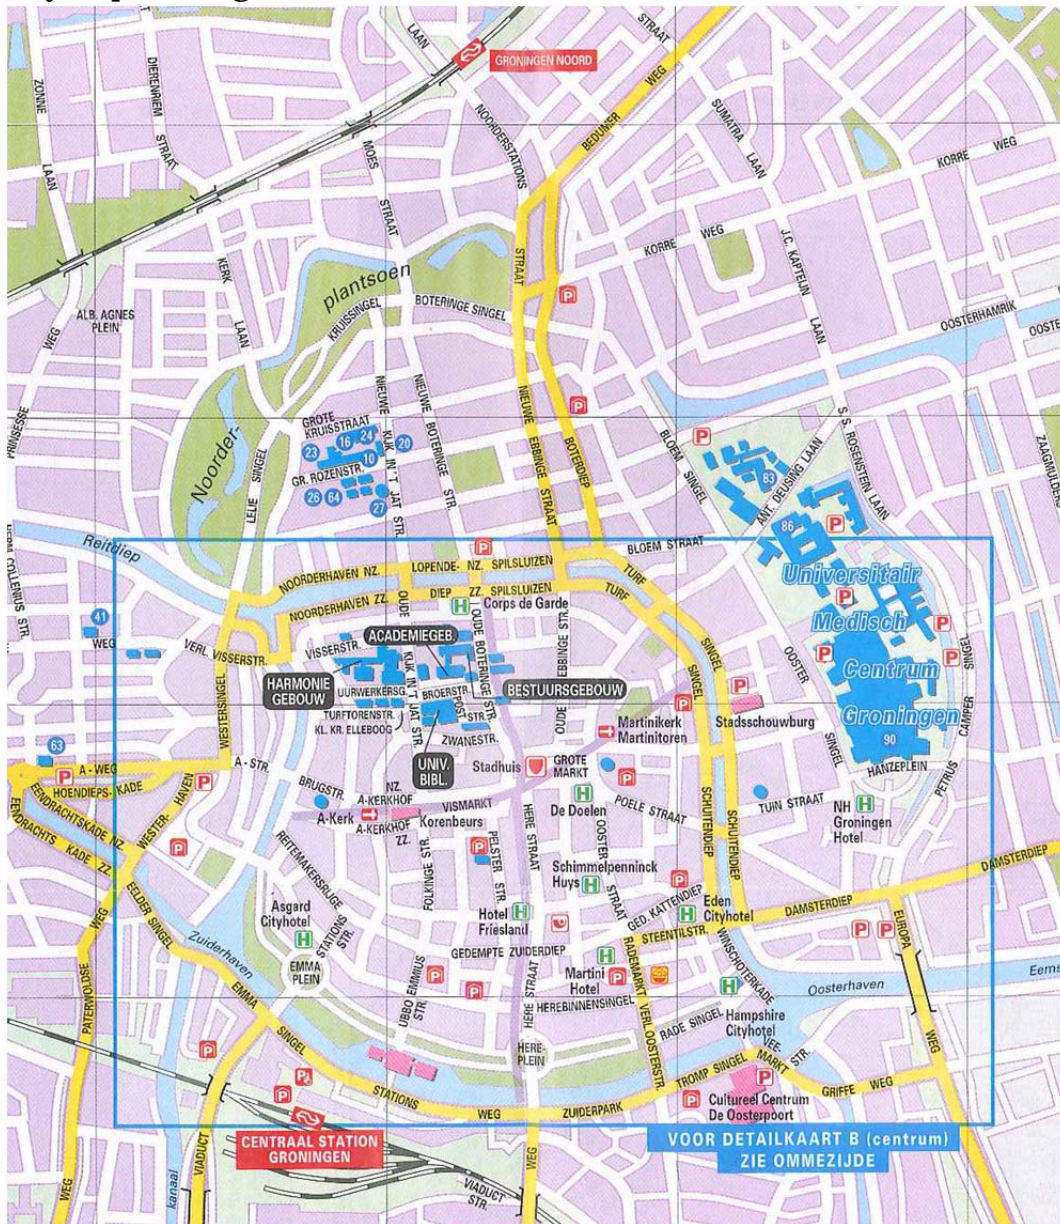

- Krokot: small fried breaded food rolls including ragout of meat.
- Bitterballen: same as the krokot but in small round balls.
- Herring or also called 'Hollandse Nieuwe' is raw fish without the head and the tail. Mostly with onions as topping.
- Stampot: mashed potatoes with vegetables like 'boerenkool' (kale), 'andijvie' (endive) or hutspot (with carrots and onions). Eaten with 'rookworst' (smoked sausage), meatballs or thickly sliced bacon.
- Beer: one of the most famous (beer) brands in the world is Heineken. There are more famous brands like Amstel, Bavaria and Grolsh.
- Patatje Oorlog: War Fries. French fries with peanut sauce and mayonnaise and raw chopped onions
- Stroopwafels: very thin waffles with syrup in between. Can be eaten cold (from the supermarket) or warm and freshly baked (from the stall on the Vismarkt in Groningen for instance)
- Liquorice ('drop' in Dutch) is one of the most popular forms of sweets in the Netherlands. Mixing it with aniseed oil, mint, menthol, or with laurel is popular.
- Boterham: literally translated as Butter Ham which is just a slice of bread. Often eaten with peanut butter, cheese or chocolate sprinkles and the main ingredient of a Dutch lunch.

Sandwich vs. Boterham with cheese
